

Harvest & Thanksgiving Lantern

You will need...

A clean milk carton, construction paper, craft knife, scissor, tissue paper, construction paper, glue, chenille stem, hole punch, pencil, ruler, glow stick

Optional: Serrated knife, craft foam, any kind of stickers, push pin, craft supplies, battery-powered candle

What to do...

Cut the carton down to desired size, glue construction paper to it, plot and cut out 1 circle or square on two sides of the carton, then pop two holes on either side and add the chenille stem handle.

For the middle of each opening, make a silhouette out of construction paper and glue it to the tissue paper. Glue the tissue paper to the inside of the carton so that your silhouette comes through when a glow stick or battery-powered candle is placed inside. Decorate the lantern with stickers, foam, or construction paper cut outs, and other craft supplies.

Tips and suggestions...

Cutting the milk carton down to size with a serrated knife can help to make a cleaner and more even cut. (Adult supervision suggested.)

To make a round opening in the side of the carton, trace around a lid or cup that fits in the middle. We used a frozen juice can lid.

Measure the circle or square from the bottom to make sure the openings are the same height, and measure around the sides to make sure they're equal.

Avoid cutting the edges when making your opening.

After tracing out your opening for the silhouette, a push pin can be used to make tiny, close holes around the trace mark for easier cutting with a craft knife.

To neaten up cut marks, consider making a border, as shown in the picture above.

This lantern can be made for any holiday or occasion or just because!
